

Deneen Simpson is the Director of Environmental Justice at the Department of Environmental Protection. Her current work includes advising senior leadership about Environmental Justice issues, concerns, activities, opportunities as well as informing MassDEP staff about their requirements under the EEA EJ Policy and other authorities. Ms. Simpson's job responsibilities include training and educating MassDEP staff about how to conduct meaningful engagement and thoughtful public involvement with EJ populations/community leaders and organizations.

In addition, Ms. Simpson shares grant funding opportunities with the EJ organizations and EJ community leaders in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to ensure they have access to fully participate in MassDEP's programs and key agency activities. Ms. Simpson is a graduate of Kinyon-Campbell Business School.